

Free City Model Samples: Cardiff, Bristol and Dublin

As the long-awaited city models of Cardiff, Bristol and Dublin will be released over the next few days, AccuCities is releasing a teaser selection of free city model samples of these cities. They can be download from our Store alongside our 3D London sample. Whilst Cardiff and Bristol samples represent 0.2 km² sections, Dublin sample covers an entire 0.25 km² tile.

Driving Innovation pays off

“AccuCities have always offered generously sized sample models for free,” says Michal Konicek, AccuCities Director. “Our London sample has been downloaded almost 3,000 times and we really see how the availability of this models drove research and innovation in our industry. I really hope that releasing samples of additional cities will lead to even more cool st created by enthusiasts, students and researchers all over the world. Since day one this approach paid off – the small percentage of projects that do move to commercial stage more than justify the effort. We grow when users of our data have the opportunity to be awesome.”

New CC licences for AccuCities samples

To make life even easier for users, all sample 3D models from AccuCities are now released under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike (CC BY-SA) license. It allows users to remix, adapt, and build upon our work even for commercial purposes, as long as the users credit us and license their new creations under the identical terms. This license is often compared to “copyleft” free and open source software licenses. Read main points here or the entire license here.
